✓ SCREEN MAGAZINE NO. 88. ✓

THE rapidity with which Japanese fishermen adapt themselves to American ways is shown in Screen Magazine No. 88 in a series of pictures dealing with the fishing industry in California. The process of manufacture of a well-known cough drop has not changed in seventy years. The way in which the little black drops resolve themselves into medicinal candy has been filmed for the magazine. The Fox Hunt, as thrilling at times as a cavalry charge, with the hounds in full cry, the winding of horns and the reckless riding of the hunters, will be another feature of the Screen Magazine. Thousands of dollars worth of lead has been salvaged from rifle ranges used by American soldiers in Texas. Captain A. E. Moreno is shown in Screen Magazine recovering and remodeling this lead for use against the Germans. speed, action and "pep" feature "Through Coney On High," one of the comedy offerings of the magazine. Willie Hopkins, noted sculptor, has produced "Funny Features" for his contribution to "Miracles in Mud" in this issue of the magazine.
